ÆTHEION

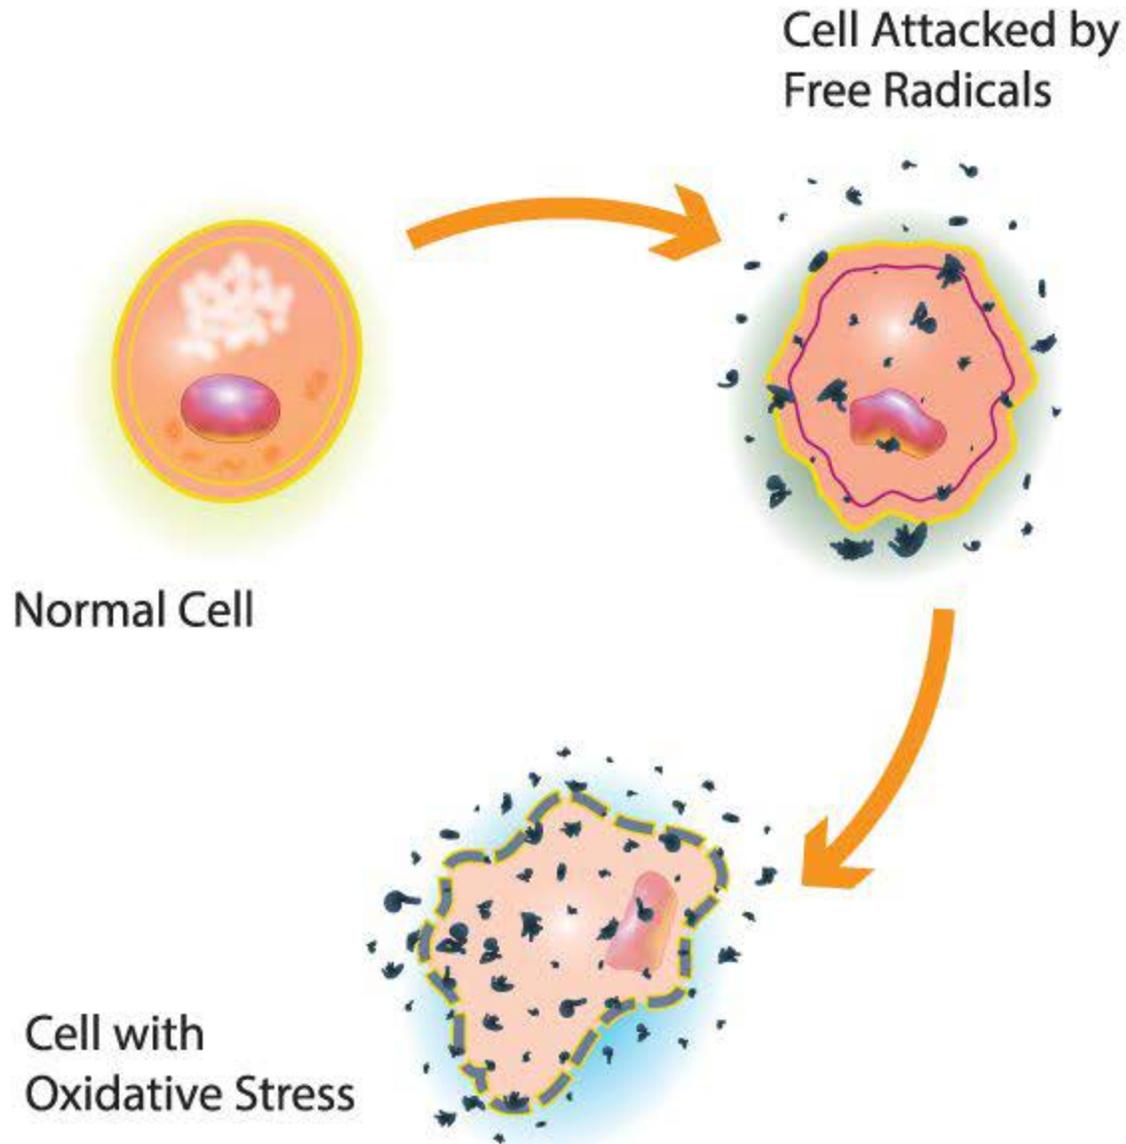

Quintessential Beautification

The background of the slide is a repeating pattern of white, semi-transparent molecular models. Each model consists of several spheres of varying sizes connected by thin, light-colored rods, representing atoms and their chemical bonds. The models are scattered across the page, creating a scientific and technical atmosphere.

All AETHEION products contain the proprietary Redox Technology with the capability of simulating an ionic zinc - copper superoxide dismutase effect.

Redox Technology is a process of reducing the skin's oxidation, by transferring electrons from a radical state to a stress free normal condition.

Oxidative stress is a form of cellular aging.

The free radical theory of aging, states that organisms age because cells accumulate free radical damage over time. A free radical is any atom or molecule that has a single unpaired electron in an outer shell. Free radical damage is closely associated with oxidative damage. Antioxidants are reducing agents, and limit oxidative damage to biological structures.

AETHEION is a cosmetic system of formulations that vary in use, purpose, concentrations and blends of ionized minerals. The higher the number of AETHEION Redox Technology in each product, the greater concentration of redox potential it contains.
